Sensitization of Social Issues

Social sensitivity describes the proficiency at which an individual can identify, perceive and understand cues and contexts in social interactions along with being socially respectful to others. This is an important social skill and having high levels of social sensitivity can make us more well-linked and successful in social and business relationship.

An example of someone with low social sensitivity would be an individual who only talks about themselves, interrupts and talks over others, and who ignores social cues to stop talking. An example of socially high sensitivity would be a person who understands conversational cues and stops talking in order to listen at the appropriate time.

It is all about everybody learning to let go of all their inhibitions and demolish all the taboos and come forth freely to express their views in all matters alike. It will take years decades even, for people to understand that only religion we have is human and our caste Indian. But we have to try till we succeed.

Active Participation

Active participation is when a person's involvement in all aspects of their life is enabled, recognising their right to participate in activities and relationships as independently as possible.

Students when participate in extra activities learn skills from different activities. They learn to manage time, organisational skills and improve self-confidence. Students also learn to express themselves in a better way.

During this social service activity each student participated actively. Students raised their voice more than others it is a result of difference in learning preference.

There were about 25-30 students present for this social activity, equal group responsibility were given by teacher students to interact with other people who are in society from different background.

Students explained and demonstrated about benefits of washing hands, medication to be done at their level in emergency.

Role in teamwork

During social activity, role of an individual in a team is almost important. In a team different individuals had different role to play. Role of an effective team is creative director, leadership, facilitator, coach and a member. All these are essential component of a team but they need to be elusive.

My role in teamwork is to specify, clearly the purpose, objective or goal of the team and all the team members need to work together to achieve it. We as a team had some tins of love for the kids at ashram and we were delighted to distribute those to them. It was the part of a team and contribution of a team. The students were happy to receive material like pencil, eraser, pen, scale, pouch, sports activities material. These things will help for educational and physical development.

The team worked together to explain the benefit of washing hand by demonstrating it live and explained the usage of first-aid medicines during emergency. Some games were taken so has to keep that spirit on.

Leadership Qualities

For the social service activity to be executed effectively it is important for each and every member to have leadership quality in them and ability to listen to the leader in a team.

This social awareness program was possible because every student was a leader performing the activity of leadership quality and understanding the human behaviour to help.

The leadership quality is the capacity to work creatively, constructively and effectively with individuals, families, group, organisation communities to promote social justice.

Leadership quality in an activity is to be honest and integrate.

Inspire others by your convincing approach towards people. Decision making capabilities, delegation and empowerment, creativity and innovation of ideas, strong communication are top attributes of a leader. Awareness a strong leader should have an eye on the learning process which ideas are effective and which are less.

Utility of the Programme

Social service keeps us engaged mentally, maintaining good emotional health, connecting with others and develops positive attitude, which in turn wards off depression. Improves physical health.

The importance of social awareness programme is that it maintains and build new relationships and are motivated by our performance.

Students as well as people involve in activity gain a greater understanding of the need. We allocate resource carefully in optimum utilisation.

Students and people will understand that they can personally play an important role in educating society and spreading awareness.

Such an act of spreading awareness among the students at ashram was done to educate them about the awareness and importance of washing hand, first-aid use and when to apply the medication of first-aid. The importance of physical health was given by motivating them to play outdoor games.

Sensitization of Social Issues

Social sensitization is the personal ability to perceive and understand the feelings and view points of others and it is reliably measurable. Our hypothesis and it is reliably measurable.

Our hypothesis is that social sensitization can be a key component in positively mediating teamwork, task activities and member satisfaction. It is a non-associative learning process in which repeated administration of a stimulus results in the progressive amplification of a response. Social sensitization is often characterised by an enhancement of response to a whole class of stimuli in addition to one that is repeated.

Believe the life of students is not only about the grades or degree but social awareness, thus it is extremely important to imbibe basic sense of social responsibility and sensitize students to social issues so they just not efficient inside the class but also outside.

Utility of Programme

The use of social service awareness programme is that it maintains and build new relationship we are motivated by our performance. Such activities keep us sharp and mentally engaged maintains good emotional health connecting with others. Improves physical health.

Students and people involve in activity will gain a greater understanding of the need carefully use resource in a way that are not wasteful.

Students and people will understand that they can personally play an important role in education society and spreading awareness regarding health and sanitization.

Report Writing

Seeing Eyes and Helping was the headline for our second social service visit to Adharashram, Nashik. The responsibility of this activity was taken by our Prof. Mahendra Gaikwad Sir.

The aim of this visit was to inculcate the social awareness among the students and to have some emotional touch with the orphan students. We all teachers and students decided to donate the educational materials like bags, pen, pencil, eraser etc to the orphan students -

The main objective of visit was to create a positive living environment which is often not seeing among the upcoming young generation.

Under the valuable guidance of our Prof. Mahendra Gaikwad Sir all the activities distribution and responsibilities took place in a proper way.

As the ashram schedule visiting time was of 10.00 am sharp at Adharashram, Nashik.
